OBSERVATIONS.

1. The Total Population of GREAT BRITAIN must exceed the Number of Persons specified in the above Summary, inasmuch as there are some Parishes from which no Returns have been received.

2. The Number of Houses in IRELAND has been nearly ascertained by the Collection of a Hearth-Money Tax; and therefrom it has been computed that the Population of that Part of the UNITED KINGDOM somewhat exceeds FOUR MILLIONS of Persons.

3. The ISLANDS of GUERNSEY, JERSEY, ALDERNEY, and SARK, the SCILLY ISLANDS, and the ISLE of MAN, are not comprized in this Enumeration. The Total Population of these Islands has been usually estimated at about EIGHTY THOUSAND Persons.

OBSERVATION:

Many of the Returns of this County were left Blank in the Column of Families; in that Case the Number of Families was supplied by copying the Column of Inhabited Houses.—As this must be somewhat under the Truth, the Number of Families in the County of Chester appears rather less than it really is.

OBSERVATION:

If it seem improper to have included Mangotsfield and Stapleton Parishes (containing 4,033 Persons) in the Population of Bristol, it is to be considered on the other Hand that the Parish of Bedminster, in the County of Somerset (containing 3,278 Persons) though a Suburb of Bristol, could not be entered with it, because situated in another County.

County of HEREFORD.

OBSERVATION:

Hundred of Blything - - - Town of Southwold.—It is feared, that the Inclosure of Salt Marshes, may eventually injure the Harbour.

* The last Ten Hundreds in the above Summary were incorporated by Act of Parliament in 1764; for the Purpose of collecting the Poor of each Hundred in a single Workhouse.

It is supposed, that certain Parishes or Places in this County; namely, Clare, Creeking St. Peter's, Brightwell, and Little Wenham, ought to have transmitted RETURNS, which have not arrived.

ENGLAND AND WALES—OBSERVATIONS.

OBSERVATION ON THE SECOND COLUMN:

NO great Reliance can be placed on the Result of Question 2. In many Counties it has been variously understood, in others not replied to; in the latter Case the Number of Families has been presumed to be, that of Inhabited Houses.

OBSERVATION ON THE THIRD COLUMN:

IT is often remarked in the Schedules, that, of the Houses returned "Uninhabited," many are ruinous and uninhabitable; and in many Counties the Uninhabited Houses, are said to be mostly Houses now building, and consequently not yet habitable.

OBSERVATION ON THE SIXTH, SEVENTH, AND EIGHTH COLUMNS:

THAT Part of the Third Question, which relates to Occupations, has been so variously understood, that, it is supposed no great Reliance can be placed on the Result of the Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Columns; the same Persons having been considered as not exclusively belonging to either Class, are frequently returned in each, thereby preventing the Three Columns corresponding with the Column of Totals.

OBSERVATION:

Notwithstanding many Applications, no Return has been received for the united Parish of Kilfinichen and Kilwicuen, nor for the Parish of Tyree. The Population of the former Parish in 1791 was 3,002; and of the latter in 1792, 2,416.—

It is supposed that Returns are also wanting from the Islands of Rum, Canna, and Muck, part of the Parish of Small-Isles: the Population of these in 1795 was 940.

OBSERVATIONS:

In the Return from Dollas it is stated, that since the Account given of the Population of that Parish to Sir John Sinclair in 1791, there is a Diminution of Seventy Souls.

In the Return from the Parish of Drainy it is submitted, Whether some Law does not seem necessary to enforce the Registration of Marriages, Births, and Burials; and it is suggested, that it might answer the Purpose if every Clergyman in Scotland (whether of the Established Church, or otherwise) were prohibited, under a certain Penalty, from performing the Rites of Marriage, or Baptism, until a Certificate produced under the Hand of the Session-Clerk, signifying that the Parties Names were regularly entered in the Parish Register; and restraining the Grave-digger from interring without a similar Certificate; extending the Regulation to Quakers?

* It is stated by the two Schoolmasters of Walls, that tempestuous Weather rendered it impossible to go to the Fair and Foula Isles, lying in the Western Ocean; but that they had Authority to make this Return.

In the Returns from Shetland, in general, it appears that the Inhabitants are chiefly employed in Agriculture, except in the Summer Months, when such of the Males as are able are employed in the Fishery.

OBSERVATION.

The Population in the Parish of Glenfhiel is stated by the School-master, to be on the Decrease; for by a particular Enumeration thereof in the Year 1788, it amounted to 771; and he observes it must be owing to the increasing Prevalence of Sheep Farms.
